NEW STAR CAUGHT IN SIMPLE LINES

Simple pen strokes were used by H. R. McBride to create this striking impression of Anna Sten, Russian beauty, in a scene from "Nana," her first American picture which opens an engagement in Loew's today.

I'm awfully sorry your rheumatism is so bad you can't go to the circus with us, Uncle Wiggily.
There! You're tucked in snug and warm—but I DO wish you were coming, too.
So do I, Nurse Jane—I'd love to see Flip-Flop, the poodle acrobat—I taught him how to do stunts when he was a puppy.

Hello! Are you all ready to go?
Oh, Elfie, it is SO kind of you to call for us!
It'll be fun riding on a real circus elephant.
Goodbye, Wiggily, and don't get uncovered.
Bye-bye, everybody! Remember me to Flip-Flop!
Hah! There they go, Pip!
Now's our chance to catch Uncle Wiggily alone.

FATHER TIME HE TANGOED IN — FORTY CENTURIES ON HIS CHIN; STEPPING HARD ON NOAH'S CORN, SHOUTED "CAPTAIN, TOOT YOUR HORN"

NOW, SO LOUD DID NOAH BLOW— EVERY LIVING FRIEND AND FOE SAID UNTO HIS BUDDY "HARK! — 'TIS THE BUGLE OF THE ARK"

THEN FROM EVERY SWAMP AND THICKET CAME EACH COUPLE WITH ITS TICKET, AS EACH COUPLE PAID ITS DUES MARCHED INTO THE ARK BY TWOS

SO IN ALPHABETIC ORDER, BUT IN TRUE-TO-LIFE DISORDER, CAME THE ASS AND ALLIGATOR — NOAH CHARGED THEM ONE POTATER.
